REVITIN Oral Therapy Toothpaste

Revitin is not actually a toothpaste, but rather something better than toothpaste. All natural, I have been using Revitin for a week now, and I can tell the difference. My mouth is always sore when I use toothpaste, as I brush too hard for some reason. It affects my gums and my dentist told me to STOP! With Revitin, there is no "sugar, gell or mint" taste and aftertaste. Revitin feels like it should – herbal and soothing. Although expensive (21.95 for a large bottle), you use MUCH less than normal toothpaste, so it lasts a lot longer than a large toothpaste tube. The BEST part is that my mouth feels better, and my breath stays fresh and I am giving my teeth an ALL NATURAL regimen of tooth and gum care. I have tried Tom's and I just don't like the taste. But Revitin has no aftertaste just an herbal delight flowing through my mouth. If you are serious about your teeth, and as a Baby Boomer I am very serious about tooth care, I suggest your trying this delightful and better alternative to strong tasting toothpastes.

Advanced Dental Science for a Healthier Kind of Clean™

Revitin™ Oral Therapy with NuPath® BioActives, according to our latest research is the most significant advance in oral health care in over a generation. Unlike other toothpastes, (most of which have a poison warning on the label), Revitin™ is safe enough to ingest and contains no harsh detergents or chemicals.

Revitin™ Oral Therapy works with the natural defenses in the mouth. We like to think of it as a conditioner for the gums, which is especially important these days when so many are using strong chemicals to whiten their teeth. These teeth whitening chemicals, especially when used at home, can cause potential damage to the gums. (After all, everyone who bleaches their hair, conditions it afterwards.)

Our research has shown that the mouth is much like an organic garden, with helpful, friendly bacteria contributing to keeping a balanced and healthy oral environment. And that's what Revitin™ Oral Therapy with NuPath® BioActives supports – a healthy mouth.

Based on our research and a combined 50 years of clinical dentistry, we developed NuPath® BioActives, a patented and proprietary blend of antioxidants, micronutrients, herbal extracts and homeopathic salts that have been formulated to support the ecosystem of the mouth. Many patients who find regular toothpaste too harsh to use due to mouth sores or other uncomfortable oral conditions have discovered that Revitin™ Oral Therapy is the only dentifrice they can comfortably tolerate. It leaves teeth feeling squeaky clean in the morning, even if brushed the night before.
